Why use fax?

We live in a global market where local and international regulations demand that companies meet prescribed minimum standards in information management and security. Compliance with these regulations has made document delivery, archiving and security systems integral to small, medium and large companies.

Fax is a universal means of business communication. Fax offers immediate electronic document delivery of critical business documents with confirmation that the document has been received. Faxes enjoy a legal status that other electronic documents do not.

Why fax-enable business applications?

Fax-enabling applications enhances productivity by

- Automating inbound fax delivery directly to the relevant individual, department or application.
- Eliminating the need for constantly walking to fax devices to send or check for faxes.

In addition, fax sending costs are reduced by removing the need to print documents before they are faxed.

A single vendor integrated fax strategy is becoming essential for all corporate companies. With over 10 years in the fax market as distributors of the RightFax brand, our customers include most of the top companies in SA.

This places us as highly qualified to determine the requirements for a successful fax strategy. With RightFax available as on site owned infrastructure, outsourced or on a pay as you use basis, making Vox Amvia your preferred fax partner is a logical decision.
